Conditional Arrangements to Honor Dead Queen.

KING MAY LOOK OVER PLANS TODAY

He Arrived at the Capital City, and Is to Consider Preposed Details of the Pageant-Naval Preparations Great-Archbishop to Prepare Memorial Service.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 30 .--King Edward left Cowes, for London. The Duke of Cornwall and York had been confined to his room since Thursday. It was feared, on Tuesday, he would be unable to take part in the ceremonies on Friday.

The only American wreath which has arrived at Osborne so far is one from Mrs. Sidney Everett, of Boston, who is staying on the Isle of Wight.

It is inscribed: "In token of lifelong veneration and reverence."

The outer cosin arrived Monday night. The non-commissioned officers detailed to carry the coffin rehearsed Monday with a dummy coffin filled with sand and weighing over half a Crown Prince Frederick, of Denmark, is expected to arrive in London the presence of a Japanese warship today.

German Ships Sailed.

Prince Henry of Prussia sailed from Kiel Monday on board the German battleship Baden, accompanied by the coast defense ship Hagen.

Prince George of Saxony is prevented by influenza from coming to the funeral. Prince John George will take his place.

Duke Albrecht will represent the king of Wurtemburg.

The Crown Prince Ferdinand of Roumania is expected Thursday night

The Orleans family will be represented by the Duke of Chartres. younger brother of the late Count of Paris; the Duke of Alencon and the Count of Eu, sons of the late Duke of Nemours, between whom and the late queen, in 1838, Louise Philippe tried to arrange a marriage. The coffin will be borne from Osborne house by the queen's Highlanders, Friday, about 1:45 p. m., to a gun carriage. The household of the late queen, the royal servants and the tenantry, will be drawn up on the carriage drive. The queen's pipers will lead the procession through king's gate to Trinity pier. There will be an imposing military display along the route, massed bands and drummers playing funeral marches. Behind the coffin will walk Admiral Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, first and principal aide de camp to the queen since 1899; the king, Emperor Wil-Prince Frederick William of Ger-2 00 Schleswig-Holstein, and other princes Then will come Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of York and other princesses. Blue jackets will bear the coffin from the pier to the royal yacht Alberta, where Admiral Culme-Seymour, four naval aides de camp and two ladies in waiting will accompany the London, Jan. 30.-King Edward and the Duke of Cambridge arrived in London. A large crowd welcomed the king at Victoria station.

Tuesday there was a rehearsal along the route of the funeral procession. The eight Hanovarian horses 10 which will draw the gun carriage took a heavily laden brake, estimated to be the weight of the gun carriage and coffin, over the route. Numerous carriages followed and a number of mounted men, representing the foreign princes and others who will ride in the procession.

It has been arranged that the Eton boys will line the route from the Long Walk gates to Windsor castle, while the military knights of Windsor will be on duty in the chapel during the funeral services.

It was understood the funeral in London may be approximately about A sovereign's escort of 100 life guards, the massed bands of three regiments of foot guards, Field Marshal Earl Roberts and the headquarters staff, an army gun carriage with the body, the king, supported by the German emperor; the king of Portugal, and the other reigning sovereigns in the order of precedence; the Dukes of Connaught and York, the equerries and aids de camp in attendance on royal personages; Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and other royal princesses, in four carriages, deeply draped, and, in the rear of the procession, another sovereign's escort of 100 life guards. It is estimated that 60 royal princes will participate in the procession,

As the funeral will be of a military character there probably will be no pallbearers, although, possibly, at Windsor certain generals will act in this capacity while the coffin is being carried up the nave of St. George's chapel. For the first time since his accession the king's train Tuesday was preceded by a pilot engine. His malesty was vociferously cheered on his way to Marlborough house.

Special Memorial Service Ordered.

The privy council ordered the archhishop of Canterbury to prepare a special form of service, in commemoration of the queen, to be used in all churches in the kingdom Saturday. The Duke and Duchess of Aosta will arrive here Jan. 31.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain was among the king's visitors this afternoon. The malady from which the Duke of Cornwall and York is suffering is the German measles.

Duke Johann Albrecht of Mecklenburg-Schwerin was taken down with the measles about 10 days ago. In London active preparations were being made all along the route. Houses are being draped and seating accommodation is being provided. A committee of ladies has obtained permission to hang wreaths of evergreen along the line, one to be at fixed to each lamp post, and all being three feet in diameter and of uniform

Of all the ceremonies no doubt the naval likely will be a fine pageant. According to the arrangements, the Alberta, with the body, will slowly steam along a line of battleshins extending about eight miles. Facing these giants of the British navy will be smaller vessels and some foreign guns of the ships will be fired as the yacht bearing the body traverses the distance through the lines of

King Edward received | A Salisbury and several other | bers of the cabinet Tuesday at Marlborough house. He will hold a privy council at St. James palace today to sanction finally the arrangements for the funeral and then will return immediately to Osborne.

The wreath sent by the King of Portugal was so large that it could not be placed in the Chapelle Ardente. It is in the form of a cushion of violets, supporting a cross surmounted by a crown of lilies of the valley.

The Mikado wired such imperative orders to the Japanese legation for at the naval display that the battle-ship Hatsuse, which was being completed at the Elsewick works. Newcastle, one of the largest battleships in the world, having 15,200 displacement, sailed for Portsmouth, although hardly in condition to go.

About 3,500 troops, it was expected, will be engaged in the procession from Osborne to Cowes. About 10. 000 volunteers, it was expected, will he employed along the line of route in London, in addition to 20,000 reg ulars. ### TO PREVENT A NUISANCE

Suit to Enjoin Proposed Prizefight Begun at Cincinnati-Prominent Attorneys Engaged.

Cincinnati, Jan. 30.—Suit was begun before Judge Howard Hollister, of proposed Jeffries-Ruhlin contest here Feb. 15. This proceeding is in the name of the state by Attorney General Sheets, at the direction of Governor Nash. It is understood, however, that the real instigators are the ministers and other elements of this city who are opposed to having the fight take place here and who resorted to every other means before this proceeding in the state court. The petition that was filed declares the proposed prize fight to be a nuisance, and a restraining order is wanted on that account rather than under any of the sections of the Ohio statutes pertaining to prize fights.

No application for an injunction organization of an was made, as it is desired first to ants, so as to have a hearing on the merits of the case,

Arguments may be made on the ap plication for an injunction on Thursday, when the attorneys for the opponents of the fight will attempt to show that a contest for a heavy weight championship of the world is not such as can come under the Ohio statutes. They will then show what they mean by a petition to enjoin a puisance. Those seeking to prevent the fight have engaged a formidable array of legal talent, including Judson Harmon, who was attorney general under Cleveland; Gustave Wald, John W. Warrington, Lawrence Maxwell. Jr., formerly solicitor general of the United States; E. W. Kittridge and J. W. Herron

Jeffries and Ruhlin, who were ar rested Monday night and held in $1,000 bond, will have their hearing on Thursday. Very little interest is taken in this proceeding in the court of Squire Roebling, as it is understood to be a friendly action under section 7,117 of the Ohio statutes, and that the defendants will be released after the hearing on Thursday. It is even currently reported that this action was taken by friends of the promoters of the fight in order to forestall such action on the part of

KEEP SHIPPING BILL TO FRONT.

Senator Frye Gave Notice He Would Attempt to Do So.

Washington, Jan. 30.-Senator Frye gave notice in the senate that he mtended to keep the shipping bill to the front, even as against appropriation bills, not yielding to them without a vote of the senate. It indicates a disposition on the part of senate leaders to force to an early issue the question whether the shipping bill is going to pass at this session. Senator Turner, of Washington, spoke in severe arraignment of the bill, declaring it to be a "lawless, piratical the common pleas court, to enjoin the raid upon the public treasury," in the interest of a few private beneheigries, and committing the government to expenditures aggregating $270,000,000. Before the session closed the committee amendments were informally agreed to.

MURDERERS SENTENCED.

Lillers of Jennie Boscheiter Got Maximum-Judge Said Three Were Fortunate to Escape Gallows.

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 30.-Walter C. McAllister, William A. Death and Andrew J. Campbell, who were found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Jennie Bosschiefer, on Oct. 19, 1900, by the administration of chloral and subsequent assault, together with George J. Kerr, who pleaded non vult contendre to a charge of assault, were brought into the court of oyer and terminer here for sentence by Judge Dixon. McAllister, Campbell and Death were each sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment at hard labor and Kerr to 15 years' imprisonment at hard labor.

These sentences were the maximum under the law in each case. McAllister, Campbell and Death were convicted of murder in the second debut insisted he was not present when the girl was drugged and took no jor General Otis.

Judge Dixon, in pronouncing sentence on Death, McAllister and Campbell, said that only through the leniency of the jury had they escaped hanging, and that they need not expect any leniency from him. "It is true the sentence will destroy your lives," continued Judge Dixon solemnly, "it will obliterate any prospect of any future before you, and all because of the deeds you have committed. I can't make any distinction because of your earlier life, but I must sentence you for the crime you have committed. I trust the fearful consequences may lead the young women and men of Paterson to know that they cannot find happiness in vice. I therefore sentence you to 30 years at hard labor in the state prison."

Judge Dixon then ordered Kerr to stand up. The judge looked at the man sadly, and in a lowered tone fury dismissed the libel suit brought said: "The evidence against you did against Lewis Emery, Jr., and Delonot show that you were implicated in the murder of Jennie Bosschieter. Judge Dixon then adverted to the erime, which he described as a ghastly outrage, and referred to the vicadded: "Gladly would I spare your relatives, but in the exercise of my official duties I cannot. I therefore sentence you to 15 years at hard in the river when he was seized with bor in the state prison."

Daughters. of the American Revolution

When the Daughters of the American Revolution, the patriotic descendants of hard fighting Revolutionary sires, meet at their annual continental congress in Washington during the middle of February, they will probably prove their ancestry by indulging in war. It will be a bloodless struggle and conducted according to the rules of courtesy of the highest society, but the battle will nevertheless be bitterly waged. No less exalted a position than the presidency of the august body is at stake, and it is a prize worth striving

The membership of the Daughters has increased wonderfully since the inception of the organization on Oct. 11, 1890. Its present membership is about 33,000. Each division of the society is called a "chapter," and the head of each chapter is known as the "regent." There are more than 500 chapters in the United States, and chapter regents have been appointed for England and Canada. The presiding officer of the national society is the president general, and there are in addition a number of executive officers and 20 vice presidents general.

Any woman may be eligible to membership in the Daughters of the American Revolution who is of the age of 18 years and who is descended from an ancestor who, "with unfailing loyalty, rendered material aid to the cause of independence as a recognized patriot, as soldier or sailor or as a civil officer in one of the several colonies or states or of the united colonies or states," provided that the applicant shall be acceptable to the society. Every application for membership must be indorsed by at least one member of the national society and is then submitted to the registrar general, who reports on the question of eligibility to the board of management. Upon its approval the applicant is enrolled as a member. It will be seen that for a woman not properly descended to obtain admission to the sacred circle would be as impossible as the passage of a camel through the eye of a needle. There is another society known as the Daughters of the Revolution, with aims exactly similar to those of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The Daughters of the Revolution separated from the Daugh-

1891, and its conditions of admission are even more exclusive than those of the parent body. The praiseworthy aim of the Daughters of the American Revolution is to perpetuate the name and memory of the men who fought to establish American independence, to acquire and proteet historical spots and erect monuments thereon, to encourage historical research and preserve the memorials of the Revolutionary era. The Daughters of the American Revolution is an energetic society and has in its ranks some of the most prominent American women, who are proud of their membership. The present contest in the Daughters of the American Revolution is caused by the question of the advisability of centralizing more strongly the organization or of leaving to the individual chapters great freedom of action. Naturally, the two policies have brought into the field candidates favoring either side. The present incumbent of the presidency, Mrs. Daniel A. Manning of New York, the widow of the former secretary of the treasury, is in favor of a centralized organization. Mrs. Manning has already served two consecutive terms as president and cannot be re-elected unless another term intervene, according to the constitution of the order. The candidate who is receiving her support is Mrs. Washington A. Roebling of New York, a woman of great wealth and at present one of northern Tacific coast have shared the vice presidents general. ling is a member of the famous family of engineers and bridge builders. She is the vice president of Sorosis, the "mother of women's clubs."

The chief opponent to Mrs. Roebling is Mrs. Donald McLean, the regent of the New York City chapter. She is probably the most popular woman in the D. A. R. and has an immense follow ing. She is, however, an impulsive enemies as well as devoted friends. There are naturally other aspirants for the honor of the presidency, and as the contest between Mrs. Roebling and Mrs. McLean is warm and pretty evenly divided a "dark horse" may win the office. Prominent in the affairs of the Daughters is Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, wife of the United States senator from Indiana, who is also a vice president general. An Instructive Review by the Bureau of Statistics.

EXPORTS GREATER THAN EVER,

More Tran One-third of the Aren of Where Most of the Timber Is Cut. Rise of Forestry-Development of Manufacture of Wood, "The Lumber Trade of the United States" is the title of a monograph just issued by the treasury bureau of statistics at Washington The lumber industry and trade, it finds, has within quite recent years changed from a small scale of production to one in which machinery, a large outlay of capital and a farsighted policy of development of properties are becoming controlling factors. This change is due partly to the growth of domestic demand and partly to the fear of prematurely exhausting our timber resources. The existence of surplus capital looking for new fields of investment has had a tendency to eliminate the small scale lumberman, and the policy of European states in rigidly limiting the annual cut of lumber to something like the rate of increase in the growth of forest has forced European lumber consuming interests to come to the United States and Canada, especially for hard woods and lumber for building purposes. As a result, the foreign lumber trade of the United States has grown enormously. Within quite recent years it has developed from a local to a worldwide commercial movement.

In the foreign trade the Atlantic ports, the gulf ports and those on the most liberally. More lumber is now country. About half of these imports come from Canada, consisting mainly of planks, boards, logs and shingles as the four principal items. #### HARGROVE ON BOER WAR.

English Author Believes That His Country Is In the Wrong.

Ernest Temple Hargrove, the English author, is the guest of Dr. George B. McClellan of Philadelphia. Mr. Hargrove spent eight months in the thick of the South African war, and he had this to say the other day to  $\boldsymbol{a}$ reporter of the Philadelphia Press of the Boers' future:

"As things now stand I believe that England will lose South Africa. If the Boers had been treated with fairness, the war would not have occurred. If they had been treated with kindness, say after the occupation of Bloemfontein, they might have been induced to surrender. These men now fighting have nothing to lose by centinuing to fight, while the Afrikanders in British Cape Colony, who were formerly most loyal to the queen, have been so disbeing shipped from these ports and gusted and horrified by the treatment from the country as a whole than at of their friends and relatives in the reany previous time in the history of the public that their loyalty has been converted into a sullen and bitter submission and often breaks out in open rebellion.

"The Boers now have but one thing to fight for-the recovery of their freeamounted to $20,591,908, showing a dom. The British have many things balance of almost exactly $30,000,000 to live for besides the continuance of this war. They will reach the same point that they reached in the war with the American colonists; they will come to the conclusion that 'it isn't good enough,' that it's costing more than it's worth."

Whenever it is known that Dr. Kutchin is stopping at a place, crowels gather to consult him, and it is not to be wondered at when it is remembered that in diagnosing a disease he never asks a question, but describes the different diseases better than the sick can themselves it is a wonderful gift for anyone to pos-ess, and Dr. Kutchin's diagnostic powers have created wonder throughout the country. He adopted the following plan, which is peculiar to the large hospitals, and is not and never has been the practice of country doctors, viz. he carefully notes the symptoms of the patient, and ascertains the condition f the internal organs, all of which he carefully records in his register for future reference. In this way he ascertains the true nature of the disease and its cause. When sick people consuit him he readily tells them whether he can cure or help them, or whether they are beyond hope. By leason of false modesty the youth of our land are kept in ignorance of the ruinous results which certain solitary indiscreet practices produce. These vices when persisted in eventually undermine the contitution inducing nervous debility and premature decay. Dr. Kutchin has for many years enjoyed the distinction of being the most successful and celebrated specialist for the treatment and cure of these affections. You may consult him with complete confidence. Of all the maladies that afflict manking there is probably none about which physicians in general practice know so Are mild and pleasant; agree perfectly with the most delicate Lady or Child; do not reduce strength; can be used while at work, and give the greatest possible benefit in the shortest possible time. ## COUNCIL OF K.

The Institution Takes Place Sunday.

ABOUT 350 VISITORS HERE?

Mass and Conferring of Degrees in the Morning-Banquet, Speech Making and More Degrees in the Afternoon -Knights Come From Youngstown, Wheeling and Akron on Special Trains.

Knights of Columbus from far and near were guests in the city on Sunday, the occasion of their presence being the institution of Massillon Council, No. 554, of that order. There were 100 from Youngstown, 75 from Canton, 60 from Akron, 30 from Wheeling, 30 from East Liverpool, 25 from Toledo, 25 from Cleveland, and many from Sandusky, Ashtabula, Cincinnati, Wellsville, Steubenville, Zanesville, New Castle and elsewhere. The Youngstown, Akron and Wheeling delegations came to the city in special trains. The visitors number that appertains to the order, he dibered 350. The headquarters of the strangers were at the Hotel Conrad.

All of the visiting Knights of Columbus, together with the prospective brethren of the local council, attended mass at St. Joseph's Catholic church at 9:30 o'clock. A special musical programme, including solos by Miss Lida McBride, was rendered by the choir. At the conclusion of the mass the congregation, which was made up almost exclusively of Knights of Columbus and candidates. sang "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name." A brief address was made by the Rev. Mr. Joachin, one of the Passionist fathers who have come to Massillon for the purpose of conducting a series of special meetings, and who are now guests at St. Joseph's rectory. He expatiated on the principles of the order. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. F. Kuebler, rector of St. Joseph's

From the church the Knights marched n a body to the hall of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, in North Eric street, where all the subsequent ceremonies were held. The first and second degrees were conferred at this place at 10:30 and 11:30 o'clock respectively. The first degree was conferred on the fifty members of Massillon council by the Youngstown council's team. For the second degree there were many candidates from other cities besides Massillon. The work of this degree was executed by the Canton team. At the conclusion of this session the visitors were escorted to the dining halls. It had been intended that all should dine together at the Hotel Conrad, but as this hostelry could barely accommodate 300 this was impossible. Quite a number dired at the Hotel Sailer, and the members of Massillon council took dinner The menu of the at the Milleronian, special dinner at the Hotel Conrad was Beside the pressing importance of the (uban question, the submission of the report of the Philippine commission. accompanied by Secretary Root's letter of importance and the President's recommendation for prompt legislation, is another argument in favor of the extra session of congress which may be found necessary. The members of the Philippines commission are apparently not sanguine that the Spooner resolution can be passed at this session, although it merely provides for giving the President authority after the insurrection has been suppressed and until a permanent form of government has been established. But because the Spooner resolution is brief and apparently harmless, it is none the less true that it would text for a siege of debate, involving Wise residence since coming to Massilevery phase of the Philippine question.

A MODERN MAN AS KING.

If in her personal attitude his revered mother had much of the old-time feeling it over and over. of the divine appointment and inherent superiority of hereditary rulers, Albert Edward is as modern a man in the type and a comfortable place in the smokingroom. He is not a strenuous person, believed that he has a deep sense of the greatness of the British empire, and that he has inherited from his mother a certain directness and simplicity of mind that are of immense value in such a position as he must fill. In short, he is

If Albert Edward lives very long, he must help to solve internal problems of great moment. His mother was estranged from Ireland. It will be one of his duties to make the Irish people as much at home in the United Kingdom as are the Scotch. Inevitably, there must come up the questson of reforming and reconstructing the hereditary House of Lords. Seemingly, the Prince of Wales grasps the idea that royalty is a much more democratic institution than the peerage, and that great curtailments of hereditary privilege might be made without opening the floodgates to an inundation that would sweep away the throne. Then, there must at no distant day come to the front the great question of the federation of the empire.—From American Monthly Review of Reviews for February.

IS COFFEE BAD FOR US?

According to Dr. William M. Leszynsky there is grave danger in the indiscriminate use of coffee as a beverage. Dr. Leszynsky's paper is printed in the current number of the Medical Record with a summary of the discussion on the subject which followed the reading of the paper before the New York County Medical Society. Dr. Leszynsky admits that "coffee when well prepared is beyond question one of the ambrosial luxuries of modern life." He says it would be as wrong to condemn its use indiscriminately as to deny that under certain conditions it was harmful.

The object of the paper is apparently to show that ill effects following coffee drinking are by no means uncommon. Those who resort to it to tide them over certain intellectual emergencies will be interested to hear that the intellectual faculties excited to the greatest degree by its use are the imagination and the memory. "It produces an augmentation of the power of attention, a vivacity of thought and conception, increased capacity for physical or mental work and transitory ambitions often beyond the physical and mental control of the individual." It is also to be noted that coffee taken in excess 'is even more dangerous than alcohol, for it is not like the latter, a nutrient, nor is its effect in excessive use so apparent or unrespectable." Richville Avenue Man Becomes so Worked Up Over Stories of Robberies and Assaults That He Sees in Calvin Wise, With Whom He Lives, a Desperate Character, and Attempts to Rid the World of Him.

Calvin Wise, of 162 Richville avenue, having attended to the errands which brought him down town, returned home at 11 o'clock on Saturday evening. He first went to the front door of his residence, but a moment later decided to enter at the rear. As he was approaching the latter door, it suddenly flew open, and a man standing on the threshold, revolver in hand, called to him to throw up his hands, at the same time beginning to shoot. The first bullet came mighty near carrying away a portion of Mr. Wise's cheek.

"What's the matter with you? This is my house. Ain't a man got a right to his own home anymore" cried he.

"Stand back, you burglar," answered the man in the door, "stand back, I'm going to kill you." And he fired two more shots at Mr. Wise before the latter succeeded in establishing to the sixshooter man's satisfaction his right to enter the house. Fortunately the man with the pistol was a poor shot, and Mr. Wise was unharmed.

The man with the gun proved to be be utilized by "anti-imperialists" as the Frank Wyandt, who has boarded at the lon from Newcomerstown, some months ago. When Wyandt arrived at his boarding place Saturday evening he possessed $15. He seated himself before a window and proceeded to count

NORWALK'S NEW PLANT.

Plans Almost Ready to be Carried into Execution.

NORWALK, Jan. 30.-Matters concern. ing the new steel plant are in a hazy state as yet, as far as public information goes, but all the indications are of welllaid plans almost ready to be carried into execution. The only persons who have appeared in the project are prominent officials of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad, Col. Myron T. Herrick, chairman of the board of directors of that property, being one, and James G. Gibbs and ex-County Clerk Beatty, of Norwalk, representing a land company. The two last mentioned has purchased upwards of 2,000 acres of land north and east of Norwalk, and have decided day, "who's given up the habit in favor to donate to the steel company what it of beef tea. It's a caution the way that shall need, reserving the remainder to be sold in lots to the people who wish to buy property adjacent to the mills.

These plans have been carried to a marked state of completion. It has been decided that the mills shall be located at the northeast section of the city of Norwalk, and that the new addition shall extend both to the east and the west of them. Several farms of large size have been purchased and the money paid for them, but the deeds have not been recorded, so that the name of the land company has not been learned. In addition, it has been provided that the offices of the steel mills will be located on Main street, near where the Lake Shore railroad crosses that thoroughfare. The mills will not be far away, and will be located both upon the main line of the Lake Shore and the Norwalk division of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad.

There have been suggestions that this is purely a land booming scheme, seeing that all of the agitation so far has been done by the land people, who are selling lots of which plats have been made, but this story is scontedtby a clause in the contracts which states that not a cent of money is to be paid on the lots or the building to be erected until the work Miles' Nervine and Nerve and Liver upon the steel mill has really begun. TESLA HOLDS THAT THE RUDDY PLANET HAS CALLED TO US.

His Cinims-Mars May Be Inhabited, but Is Itt-Similar to the Earth in Many Ways-Mysterious Canals.

Of all the planets in our grand solar system the most interesting to terrestrial observers is that which astronomers have named Mars. To the ordinary person gazing into the heavens it appears like any other star, a sparkling point of brilliancy, especially noticeable, perhaps, for the redness of its light. But to the scientific star gazer, equipped with the latest apparatus of research, Mars presents an absorbing problem. Is our sister planet, or is it not, inhabited by intelligent beings, similar to ourselves?

Through the agency of the modern great telescopes and by scientific deduction it has been determined for several years that natural conditions on Mars are very similar to those on the earth. Mars has an atmosphere; it experiences rains, snows, storms, calms and hurricanes such as we have. Its surface is composed of land and water. Mars, like the earth, has a satellite. In fact, our sister planet has two moons. It revolves on its axis and has regularly recurring seasons. There are many other points of similarity, and many of our wisest astronomers are of the opinion that Mars is the scene of human life and activity. This view has been greatly helped by the discovery of the so called "canals" of Mars. These are regular lines on the surface of the planet, arranged in geometrical designs, which astronomers declare can be nothing else than intelligently plaumed and executed ca-

The present discussion of this absorbing problem is caused by the claim of Nikola Tesla, the eminent electrician, that he has received a message from the inhabitants of Mars, or of some other planet, with the chances in favor of Mars. Mr. Tesla has been engaged in experimenting with wireless telegraphy for almost two years in Colorado, near Pike's acter unmistakably showed that they were neither of solar origin nor proother planet to communicate with the may visit. They are built simply as gn earth dwellers. He claims in addition that by means of his newly perfected and most powerful instruments he will soon be able to convey a message to the planet.

Astronomers are inclined to great eaution in discussing Mr. Tesla's claims. Although they are practically agreed that Mars may be inhabited, they are by no means of the unanimous opinion that it is. It seems to be their consensus of opinion that Mr. Tesla is too sanguine and is making his claims without the solid scientific basis that should distinguish a matter of such grave importance. Our scientist points out the fact that the nearest Mars ever gets to the earth is 30,000,000 miles and says that the making of an instrument sensitive enough to record electrical waves at this distance or of an instrument powerful enough to transman possibility investment, for nothing else will pay half the rate of interest that one of these houses will pay. Say, for example, you rent each floor for $20 a mouth, making an aggregate of $480 per year, and the amount of money you invest is $2,800 for the house. Allow the liberal figure of $1,000 for the land, giving a total of $3.800 invested, and your income from it is $480 per year. Just see what per cent you are getting on the investment!

TO BUILD BRAINS.

MIMS AND INVENTIONS OF PROFESSOR GATES OF WASHINGTON.

fie is a Scientist of Acknowledged Standing and Predicts Great Things - Newspapers | Electrically Printed Without Ink.

To take an ordinary person and by development of certain parts of the brain make of him or her a splendid genius in any desired line, such are the expressed aim and intention of Professor Elmer Gates. This is only one of the many magnificent plans of Professor Gates, who is one of the leading American scientists. He calls this theory "the theory of brain development" and believes that by means of it he will be able to regenerate the human race. He claims that he can build up and add to the brain, since it has been determined accurately by physiologists that certain portions of that organ govern corresponding functions of thought, action, etc. Professor Gates claims that he has demonstrated the truth of his theories by actual experiments upon animals and upon his own child, and he holds that the century just opening will see startling advances in the science of brain development.

Professor Gates is no mere dreamer of visions, and his standing in the scientific world entitles his theories and opinions to respect. He lives at Chevy Chase, a suburb of Washington, where he has a residence opposite that of Secretary Gage. There he has a big laboratory and intends to establish a college in which he will teach the science of electricity. The professor has made a number of valuable discoveries and inventions in that field of both scientific and commercial importance. Among his recent inventions is that of a hydromagnetic separator, which will prove of great benefit in gold mining. Its purpose is to separate from the gold magnetite or iron ore, whose separation fessor Franzisathes' instruction in his has been one of the most vexed problems to the seekers for gold. Professor Gates' separator accomplishes this result in a simple, expeditious manner and will greatly increase the output of the precious metal.

Another invention of Professor Gates, made some years ago, is a remarkably ingenious and incredibly powerful microscope possessing the power of magnifying some milhons of times. It is, however, very expensive, costing, according to its inventor, about $12,000 to construct it.

Professor Gates believes that within ten years we shall see an enormous advance in electrical science. The inventions already produced, according to him, merely touch the great possibilities of the magic fluid. He believes that wireless telegraphy, telephony and telephoty will be so perfected that we shall not only be able to speak to persons in distant lands, but that we shall see them at the same time. The professor holds that the X rays are capable of indefinite improvement, and we shall soon be able to arrange a device enabling one to see through an entire house and observe the inmates as skeletons, walking or sitting or lying around.

The newspaper of the future, according to Professor Gates, will be printed | been dust these 2,223 years. He died without ink. With electric pens we at Babylon in his thirty-third year. Alwill write on chemically prepared pa- though it is known that his body was per without ink or leads. The future editor of the daily paper will be able to a half, its final disposition has for write an editorial or an item of news as if writing on an ordinary typewriter, and when his article is finished copies precisely like the original. Oththe possibility of the realization of our present inventions and advances were undreamed of and would have been ridiculed haif a century ago.

Professor Gates' favorite idea is that of mind training. He holds that the brain of the average person is developed to only about 2 per cent of its possible capacity and that the future will see a tremendous increase in the thinking power of the human race.

WALTZING FOR NEWSBOYS.

It is Necessary to Success, According to Professor Franzmathes,

Should you in the near future, after hailing a newsboy, be received with a Chesterfieldian bow and the compliments of the season, expressed in the choicest Anglo-Saxon, do not be sur prised. If you purchase a newspaper from a boy who you find possesses all the grace and suavity of a Beau Brum mel do not imagine that you are disaming. The newsboy, unless the paper. swearing, crap playing little hustler into a polite, clean American, with all the social graces.

Professor Franzmathes hopes to ac complish these marvels in his own city, but the glorious success of his movement will no doubt spread it to other cities. The professor is a teacher of dancing, deportment and etiquette, and he believes that the road to the social and business regeneration of the newsboy lies through the doors of his and similar academies. He points out the unquestioned and indubitable fact that many newsboys have risen to wealth and fame, and he has his heart in the work of extending a helping hand to the present generation of "newsies." The aims of the professor are purely philanthropical, for he has nothing to gain personally by his endeavor. "It should be the aim and ambition of every newsboy to achieve higher positions in life as be matures into manhood," says the professor. "We believe that the newsboy of Kansas mark as a business man. To do this chiefs." Then tie the two sides togeth-City, if given a chance, would make his he must cultivate himself, beginning er with three inch satin ribbon the at a point which we think very neces sary -the art of dancing deportment and etiquette." The worthy man does not say whether he will offer any inducement to his prospective scholars in the form of eigarettes or pie; neither does he explain away the obvious objection to his plan, that the surplus time of the newsboy could be better employed in !earning "the three R's." It might also be suggested by some finicky persons that others besides bearing sand or crushed quartz the newsboys are greatly in need of Prochosen specialties.

HOLIDAY TRIFLES.

Some Unlauc Little Arrangements

Suitable For Presents or Bazaurs. During the latter part of the gift season it sometimes happens that one would like to quickly concoct little trifles for use as "belated" presents, and the following hints found in Good Housekeeping will afford a few appropriate affairs of this kind: An attractive pad may be made by covering a heavy piece of pulp board 8 by 6 inches in size, with old rose madder for the outline or shading. Wash a touch of rose madder on the cheeks. In bold letters paint "Enon flowers.'

A needlebook makes a gift which pleases any woman, from the grandmother to the proud young owner of her first workbasket. For a small needlebook cover four visiting cards with silk, satin or linen. If linen is chosen, use it for the outside of the cover and silk or satin for the inside. A dainty effect is obtained by using white taffeta for the cover and some bright shades of silk for the inside. The matter of decoration allows the widest latitude-flowers, a pretty child figure, a few silver winged bugs, called darning needles, or a bee hovering over a pink clover blossom. If you use the bumblebee, paint in crimson letters on the other side of the cover, "How doth the little busy bee improve each shining hour.'

Another suitable adornment for a needlebook is a sketch of an old dame flying through the air, witch style, on Old Mother Twitchett had only one eve And a long tail, which she let fly, And every time she flew over a gap She left a bit of her tail in the ti p.

Choose an old rose art linen to make a handkerchief case. Cover four pieces of card about tive inches square, two with the linen, two with delicate pink china silk into which has been put a layer of cotton batting with sachet powder. In the center of the linen paint a disk in gold and beside it with water color a rich hued crimson chrysanthemum. Use the same color and a fine outline of gold for the "Handker

Something rather unique is a tag Its foundation is four visiting cards, over which are stretched, then stitched together, bits of white taffeta for the outside and some darker silk for lining Let the decoration be a traveler, a dainty maid with a dress finished, put inside it a dozen tags.

If, however, the toes were turned in a contrary direction farewell to their hopes.

WHAT "LLOYD'S" MEANS.

Famous London Ship Register and Its Steel Tester.

People who are not interested in a business way in the subject of shipping seldom know what is meant by the description of a ship as of "2,000 tons register" or why "tons register" is not the same as "displacement" or why any "register" should enter into the subject at all or, if it does, what "register." On the other hand, a good many people know that the register of all shipping is Lloyd's Register, and it is convincing proof that the kidneys and bladvaguely understood that a merchant derare out of order. ship, no matter what flag it carries, is gagements" and the verse, "Noiseless all the better for being rated "A1" at often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swampfails the foot of time that only treads Lloyd's. There is a further question Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every ing to leave in the vague, and that is, How does Lloyd come to know so much without question? These questions are answered by the New York Tribune.

Lloyd's Register of Merchant Ships is an institution which grew up in the middle of the last century in a London coffee house where merchants congregated to hear and to give news of their several maritime ventures. In course of time it came to be accepted as safe to intrust one's cargo to any ship that was guaranteed on the register kept at Lloyd's. But the degree of certainty in the knowledge, and with it the value of Lloyd's certificate, has increased enormously since hulls began to be built of steel and the strength of materials to be accurately measured by means of scientifically made apparatus.

Lloyd's maintains not only expert agents in all the great shipbuilding centers, but equally expert agents at the great centers of steel manufacture. Besides its agents in New York and other great ports, who have various, kinds of work to do. Lloyd's keeps a special expert agent at Pittsburg who has nothing to do but test the steel turned out there for use in the building of merchant ships. With the testing of armor plates or of any material intended for use in the construction of war vessels this particular expert has no concern. The Lloyd's agent at Pittsburg has to be continually at the beck of a large number of malls, mostly at Homestead, a suburb of Pittsburg, on the opposite bank of the Monongahela river. When any mill has a sufficient number of agent is notified to come and make the tests, without which the steel will not be accepted by the shipbuilders. These tests are purely mechanical, not chemical. A piece is mpped off any beam, plate or what not at any point and of whatever size the examiner may choose to indicate and submitted to the double test for both tensile and bending strains. In common language, the steel is tested to see how much weight it will bear without pulling out like hot candy and again with a view to the pressure necessary to make it bulge like an overpacked bandbox. These tests are applied by means of accurately graded machines which the uninitiated might easily mistake for weighing machines and which are supplied and kept in order by the nulls, though always subject to the inspection and approval of the Lloyd's man. Every separate piece tested by these means and found satisfactory is marked by the examiner and the mark entered by him in the invoice suit case, a drummer with his grip or which is to be forwarded to the Lloyd's a dude with a heavy cane. When it is agent at the port from which the material will be shipped. The Lloyd's agent at Pittsburg is the only one at present engaged in this particular work in the United States, though there are several such scattered about among

A CITY BUILDING.

Like the City Hospital, It is Talked of.

ABOUT $25,000 IS NEEDED.

It is Argued that the Interest on Half This Sum Would Not Exceed the Amount the City Yearly Pays in Rents for the Rooms of Officers -A Way in Which More Money Could be Raised.

There are a great many citizens who feel that Massitlon, like other places of its population in the state, ought to have a city building. Even Navarre has a town hall, in which are located the council chamber, mayor's court room. fire engine house and jail. At present Massillon pays $560 a year in rents for the various rooms occupied by city offi cers, and great is the inconvenience which arises through the locations of these offices. For instance, the mayor's office and court room, whose rent is $250 a year, and the city clerk's officerent $60 a year, are in the opera house block, while the office of the city engineer, rent $75 a year, is three squares distant, in the Warwick block. The board of education's room is in the Yost building, and the rent is $150 a year. The rent paid by the sewer commission is $25 a year. The board of health and other municipal bodies meet in the mayor's court room.

It is argued that for the $560 the city pays yearly in rents, $11,000 could be borrowed, and, with an additional $8,000 or $9,000, be invested in a building that would be a credit to the town and a money saver as well. The lot on : which the present jail and the old engine house now stands is thought to be an excellent location for such a building. The lot, however, being but 90x39 feet, would scarcely be large enough. Contiguous property could doubtless be purchased. The city building, people interested say, ought to be four or five stories high, and for the erection of such a structure $25,000, it is thought, would be required.

As such a building would be larger than necessary for the city's needs, it is suggested that a half dozen or more office rooms might be rented at $75 or $100 a year, in which way sufficient money could be raised to pay the interest on the entire loan. It would doubtless be advantageous for justices of the peace and probably for lawyers to be located in the building of the city officers. The mayor has no civil docket, so all cases of that nature are sent to the justices. To be a neighbor of the mayor might mean something to such an officer.

Everybody agrees that the offices of least, should be in the same building, as conferences between these officers are sometimes necessary several times in a day. And, it is said, there would certainly be an advantage in having the meeting places of all the municipal bodies located in the one building.

To obtain the $20,000 or $25,000 that would be necessary for the erection of such a building, bonds would have to be mitted to the people. A two-thirds vote | pletely cures it. is necessary to carry the proposition. Many of the rooms now occupied by city officers are leased for long periods, but, it is believed, these leases could be disposed of with but little loss to the city.
